SHERIFF SAYS HE'LL PREVENT DISCUSSION

Announces That Meeting to Debate Murder of Fred Larimore Shall Not Take Place.

CITIZENS ARE INDIGNANT.

Declare the Officer is Attempting to Deny the Right of Free Speech and Threaten to Ignore His Order.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL.

Plainville, Ill., Nov. 13.—The citizens of this village are wildly excited over what they style the attempt of Sheriff Roth to deny or abridge the right of free speech. They threaten to disregard the order of the Sheriff commanding them not to hold a public meeting Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock to discuss the assassination of Fred Larimore.

Sheriff Roth takes the position that the meeting can do no good, and will tend to arouse public passion, and may cause disorderly scenes, even a riot. For this reason he announced to-day that he would not permit the meeting to take place.

Word of the Sheriff's intentions to suppress the meeting caused much excitement and representative citizens declared emphatically that the Sheriff has no authority to prevent the meeting. They assert that the announced purpose of the meeting is for peaceable discussion, that the citizens who will attend are law-abiding and entitled to all the constitutional rights held by any citizen of the United States, and that they will hold their meeting, the Sheriff and his orders to the contrary notwithstanding.

Fearing trouble, conservative men are going all in their power to persuade those taking the lead in the proposed meeting to call it off.

The posters announcing the meeting, which have been up several days, invite the public to assemble for the purpose of discussing the measure, to induce the father action in his endeavors to persuade the Governor to offer a reward for the apprehension of the murderer, and to denounce the attempt which has been made to connect Clarence Larimore with the crime.

UNITED DAUGHTERS OF THE CONFEDERACY MEET.

Day's Work Consisted of Receiving Reports From the Various States Having Active Organizations.

New Orleans, La., Nov. 13.—To-day's session of the ninth annual convention of the United Daughters of the Confederacy was entirely given over to the hearing of reports.

Mr. Cooley, from Florida, said that, although the State had a population more than half Northern, it contained one of the largest chapters of the general body and had lately raised a $35,000 shaft over the Florida soldiers buried in Winchester, Va. Mrs. J. M. Arnold of Kentucky said that in that State the play of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" had been prohibited and "Marching Through Georgia" silenced in the public schools.

Mrs. John P. Hickman of Evansville, Ind., said the chapter there was engaged in the work of building a monument to Confederate dead.

Miss Mary M. Minoe of Maryland reported that the chapter in that State helped to support a soldiers' home and helped to erect a monument shortly to be unveiled in honor of the veterans.

Mrs. Helen D. Ball said the special work of the chapters in Mississippi was to establish a Confederate home at Beaufort, the old home of Jefferson Davis.

Mrs. Rapley of Missouri said her chapters had built six monuments in Missouri.

Mrs. James Henry Barker of New York said her chapter was composed of Southern women living in that State and was engaged in memorial work.

Mrs. Thomas W. Worcester of Ohio said through her efforts Southern high schools introduced in the schools so that Ohio children might learn both sides of the war. A rising vote of thanks was tendered to Mrs. Worcester for her services.

Mrs. H. A. Winder of Columbus, Ga., no trace of the child's happy days as in the case of childhood laughter, which fails to show signs of a soft dimpled hand.

To the mother, child, and through the child, the mother suffers, deprive the child of the good cheer—help is here.

There has made child bearing easy for women in the last forty years. Heavy endorsement, not only for the mother, but also because it is a pleasant application only, and does not require the use of drugs to be swallowed.

By its use, the mother's morning sickness, swelling of the feet, and many of the usual discomforts of pregnancy are relieved, and the mother's health is preserved, and she is able to carry the child to term with the pressure from the uterus.

The announcement from Georgia that $5,000 for the Winnie Davis memorial had been raised through the Daughters was greeted with applause.

A very cordial greeting was given Miss Laura Dugan, who bore greetings from the chapter of Los Angeles, Cal.

FIFT NEW CARS FOR OLIVE STREET LINE.

Number in Service on the Division Will Be Increased to 140 Within a Week.

GREATER SEATING CAPACITY.

Schedule to Be Shortened From Three-Quarters to One-Half Minute Intervals.

Fifty new cars will be added to the Olive street division of the St. Louis Transit Company within the next week. These cars are being finished by the Laclede Car Company, No. 450 North Second street, and will give the Olive street line its full complement of 140, the number now in use being ninety.

The running schedule will be reduced to one-half minute from three-quarters minute intervals, the present schedule.

The new cars will be four inches wider than the old ones. In length they measure 48 feet over all. The body is 34 feet long. The rear double platform, with rail partition, measures 5 feet.

The cars will seat forty-eight persons, having eight more seats than the old type. The riding capacity of each car is easily 100 persons.

The interior of these cars is finished in solid cherry, with ceiling in bird's-eye maple. The rattan-covered spring seats are arranged in rows of four, facing each other, which are considered more comfortable.

As the cars travel head-on all the time the swinging seat is no longer necessary. The new cars are mounted on Vice President Dupont's new trucks, which embody the latest improvements.

The wheels are all of the same size, the present pony wheel being abandoned. They make riding easy and at the same time permit of the lowering of the car step.

The rear platform is dropped ten inches from the floor of the car and the first step is just fourteen inches from the ground, as against seventeen to nineteen inches of the present car step.

The new cars will be equipped with power brakes, as demanded by the late ordinance. The number of motors is increased from two to four, giving additional speed, especially in starting the car, where according to present calculations, most time is lost.

The cars will be heated with stoves of the latent pattern, which the present managers consider a better method for heating than the electric heaters now in use on some of the cars. The latter have never given sufficient heat in extreme cold weather.

Improved electric heater that inventors may furnish.

The illuminating capacity of the new cars is greatly increased, providing for fifteen lamps from ceiling and sides, distributed at intervals of two feet.

The top-notch carrying capacity of the fifty new cars, calculated at 100 persons per car, is 5,000. If necessary 125 percent can be accommodated, owing to the increased standing room as well as the seating capacity.

EAST SIDE VETERAN OF SANTIAGO WILL JOIN MARMADUKE AT PANAMA.

Henry Le Engel, Who Served on the Battleship Indiana, Will Take With Him William J. Henderson of East St. Louis, a Fellow-Railway Employee, to Fight Under the Missouri Commander of Colombian Fleet—Should Revolution End, They Expect Captain Henry Marmaduke to Be Engaged in Another Before They Reach South America.

East St. Louis men who will join Marmaduke at Panama. Peter Le Engel of East St. Louis is on the right. He served on the Indiana at Santiago. His companion is William J. Henderson, a fellow-employee in East Side railway yards.

To hear the roar of battle once more and serve with Captain Henry M. Marmaduke of Missouri, who is commander of the Colombian fleet, is making it hot for the rebels in South American waters, Peter Le Engel of No. 621 Mulligan avenue, East St. Louis, is preparing to depart for Panama. Engel served for seven years in the United States Navy, and at one time was a member of the Missouri Naval Reserve.

With him the veteran will take William J. Henderson of No. 127 North B street, East St. Louis. Both men have been employed in the railway yards on the East Side for the last several years, and while Henderson has never been in military or naval service, he is a vigorous young fellow whom Engel thinks will pass muster.

During the Spanish-American war Engel was a boatswain's mate on the battleship Indiana, under Captain Taylor, and helped to load and fire one of the great guns in the forward turret when that ship chased and did her share in sinking Cervera's fleet at Santiago. His discharge papers give him a good record.

"I became a naval apprentice in 1879," said Engel, "and served until 1883. The life became monotonous, and I pulled out and came to St. Louis, going to work as a switchman on the Baltimore and Ohio. But I have always had a desire to get back into the service if there is any chance of excitement. I did not lose any time in getting back in 1898. When the war closed, however, I was ready to come West again."

"I don't know Captain Marmaduke," Engel continued, "but I do know that he knows his business, and since we are both from Missouri I should like to serve under him while he is having all this fun."

The former sailor explained that the average man who has served in the navy for several years and goes through the drills and mimic warfare, finds himself wishing for real fighting. He got a little of it at Santiago, but he says it was not enough to cure him of a desire for more.

It was suggested that by the time he reaches Panama, Captain Marmaduke, perhaps, will have blown all of the rebel boats out of the water.

"Well," said Engel, "the success of Captain Marmaduke probably will place his services in great demand. They have revolution down there at every change of the moon, and maybe they will scare up a few for his special benefit. I think I will try being a sailor of fortune with him."

Engel and Henderson propose to depart in a few days for New Orleans, where they will call upon the Columbian consul, ship to Aspinwall, and then cross the isthmus to Panama, where they expect to be in touch with the naval commander from Missouri.

SCIENTIFIC STEP FORWARD TO ETERNAL LIFE ON EARTH?

Professor Loeb Announces That Animals at the Point of Death Have Been Restored to Life by Injections of Salt—Experiments on Mammals in Chicago University Said to Have Demonstrated That Science May Be on the Threshold of the Discovery of Almost Indefinitely Prolonging Human Existence.

OF THE CHICAGO UNIVERSITY who announces a new discovery which he believes is a step forward toward the indefinitely prolonging life.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL. Chicago, Ill., Nov. 13.—A new discovery in relation to the prolonging of human life has just been announced by Professor Jacques Loeb of the University of Chicago.

While the instructor is preparing to take a position at the University of California, Professor Loeb and his corps of scientists have shed a new light on the problem which has occupied the biologist for years.

Salt and water, "the elixir of life," discovered by Doctor Loeb two years ago to be efficient in making turtles' hearts beat to be a powerful restorative for dying mammals, and the scientist believes that he is a step nearer the goal of prolonging human life indefinitely.

The experiments of which Doctor Loeb told his class were made by Assistant Professor Edward Lyons in the laboratory at the University. Lyons' experiments were carried out on the idea of ascertaining the properties of solutions of sodium and calcium as a life restorative. The announcement made by a Russian specialist some time ago regarding experiments made with the heart of a dead child are said to have been the immediate motive.

"If a heart can be taken from a baby after death and the regular beat temporarily restored by immersing it in a solution of salts," argued Doctor Lyons, "why cannot the heart of a warm-blooded animal be restored by an injection of salts into the veins, if done when the animal is at the point of death?"

Doctor Lyons began his experiments with the lowest forms of animal life, mice and then dogs and cats. Taking the animals kept in the University of Chicago laboratories for experiments, he gave them such treatment as would bring them to a condition where life was practically extinct.

Then, by injection of sodium and calcium salts, he restored them to life.

What the next step will be the scientist refuses to say. They will, they say, probably be made in experiments on restoring the heart of a human being.

"Human life may be prolonged only when they have proved it."

DID NOT KNOW SHE HAD KIDNEY TROUBLE

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect It.

Gertrude Warner Scott Cured by the Great Kidney Remedy, Swamp-Root.

Vinton, Iowa, July 15th, 1901.

DR. KILMER & CO., Binghamton, N. Y. Gentlemen: My trouble began with pain in my stomach and back, so severe that it seemed as if knives were cutting me. I was treated by two of the best physicians in the county, and consulted another. None of them suspected that the cause of my trouble was kidney disease. They all told me that I had cancer of the stomach, and would die. I grew so weak that I could not walk more than a child a month old, and I only weighed ninety pounds. One day in a paper you saw an advertisement for Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy. He bought me a bottle of our drug store and I took it. My family could see a change in me for the better, so they obtained more and I continued the use of Swamp-Root regularly. I was so weak and run down that I took considerable time to build me up again. I am now well, thanks to Swamp-Root, and I weigh 130 pounds, and am keeping house for my husband and brother. Swamp-Root cured me after the doctors had failed to do so a particle of good."

(Gertrude Warner Scott) Gertrude Warner Scott

Women suffer untold misery because the nature of their disease is not correctly understood; in many cases when doctoring they are led to believe that womb trouble or female weakness of some sort is responsible for their ills, when in fact disordered kidneys are the chief cause of their distressing troubles.

The mild and extraordinary effect of the world-famous kidney and bladder remedy, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. A trial will convince any one—and you may have a sample bottle sent free by mail.

PRISONER TRIES TO ESCAPE.

John Gilchrist Slips His Handcuffs and Runs.

Detective Lee Killian and Deputy Sheriff Rankin yesterday prevented the escape of John Gilchrist, a young prisoner, who, while being taken from the Court of Criminal Correction to jail, slipped his handcuffs, and, dashing down the main stairs of the Court, ran out on Clark avenue.

As Gilchrist fled, the detective and Sheriff Rankin were going out the Clark avenue door. Gilchrist spotted the detective and leaped to the sidewalk. Killian recognized Gilchrist and took up the chase. He overtook the prisoner at the corner of Clark and Third streets.

Rankin was but a few feet behind Killian when he overtook the prisoner. Gilchrist made no further attempt to escape when Killian led him back to jail. "I just thought I'd take a chance," he said.

Gilchrist was bound, and taken to the Grand Jury by Judge Clark over three charges of grand larceny. He was arrested Saturday, and taken to jail, where he was charged with stealing overalls from Zack Tinker and James H. McFague were issued. More than a year ago a warrant had been issued charging him with stealing $700 from Mrs. J. M. Baldrige of Grand and Washington avenues.
